

Using the Find It! Service

Find It! attempts to determine where an item listed in a database is available. If it is not available in the library's collection, Find It! links to the Interlibrary Loan service.

Most library databases include a FIND IT! link next to a citation of an article or book. If the full-text of an item is available online in one source, Find It! provides a link directly to that source. Otherwise, Find It! opens a new window with a menu of choices.

Note year, volume/issue, and pages of desired article.

▶ Full text available via (name of library subscription) **

Indicates the full-text should be available via another online library subscription.

- 1) Note year, volume, issue and pages of article.
- 2) Click name of the service to open a new window displaying the new database.
- 3) Click appropriate links in new window to access the full-text (often PDF) of the article.

▶ We may have: a copy in print listed in the Library Catalog **

Indicates the full-text may be available in the library's print or microfilm collections.

- 1) Follow the link to search the library holdings of your item in the University Library Catalog.
- 2) If not available, submit a request to Interlibrary Loan (via the library's home page).

▶ This item may be available via Interlibrary Loan **

Indicates the item is not part of the library's permanent collection.

- 1) Follow the link to open a new window for Interlibrary Loan.
- 2) The first time you use the Interlibrary Loan ILLiad system, you will need to register.
- 3) Once you logon to ILLiad, Find It! enters information about the item into the form.
- 4) Double-check the information in the form, scroll to the bottom, and submit it.
- 5) Items requested via Interlibrary Loan are usually available in 5 to 7 days.
