

Citing Legal Materials in APA Style

The 6th edition of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (2010) outlines the citation style for legal materials in the Appendix to Chapter 7 (pp. 216 – 224). Below are suggested formats for common types of legal publications (California and federal sources).

In Text Citations

Any time a law or a court case is mentioned in the text of a paper, include an “in text citation” in the proper format (usually in parentheses). For court cases, that includes the main party names as well as the year – e.g. (Griswold v. Connecticut, 1965). For laws (statutes), the preferred form includes the name of the law and the year – e.g. (Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act of 1974). APA style requires anything cited briefly in the text (e.g. in parentheses) should also have a complete listing in the References list.

Court cases:

(Griswold v. Connecticut, 1965)

For court cases, in the text cite the party name v. party name and the year.

Statutes (named):

(Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act of 1974)

For statutes (bills passed by Congress or a state legislature and signed into law), in the text cite the name of the law and the year. The name of the law can sometimes be found at the beginning of the bill as signed into a law and/or the beginning of the appropriate section of the codified version.

Statutes (no name):

(18 U.S.C. § 2258)

It is not always possible to find the name of a law, especially if the citation is to the codified version (published in the U.S. Code or one of the California codes). To cite a law (e.g. section of the USC or a California code) without a name, some authors simply include the legal citation – e.g. (18 U.S.C. § 2258) – in the text and omit the entry from the References list.

Citing a Court Case in APA Style

In Text Citations:

Format: (Party v. Party, year)

Federal Examples:

(Griswold v. Connecticut, 1965)

(Christopher S. v. Stanislaus County Office of Education, 2004)

California Examples:

(Tarasoff v. Regents of the University of California, 1976)

(People v. Stockton Pregnancy Control Medical Clinic, 1988)

References List

Format: Party v. Party, Legal Citation (Court abbreviation year)

Example Entries:

Christopher S. v. Stanislaus County Office of Education, 384 F.3d 1205
(9th Cir., 2004)

Griswold v. Connecticut, 381 U.S. 479 (1965)

People v. Stockton Pregnancy Control Medical Clinic, 203 Cal. App. 3d
225 (Cal. App. 3d 1988)

Tarasoff v. Regents of the University of California, 131 Cal. Rptr. 14 (Cal.
1976)

Legal Citation for a court case = volume # Reporter Abbreviation page number

384 = volume 384

F.3d = Federal Supplement 3rd Series

225 = page 225

Note: Lexis displays several different “Legal Citations” for court cases. Generally, use the Legal Citation listed first (through the first semi-colon).

APA Citation for a California Court Case

Format: Party v. Party, Legal Citation (Issuing Court Abbreviation year).

Notes:

Party names are displayed at top of court opinion in LexisNexis. (In Lexis, if the list of party names is overly long, in the upper left screen under “Show” choose “List” to display “short” party names.)

Legal Citation = volume # Reporter Abbreviation starting page #

LexisNexis often displays multiple legal citations to the same court case, one after another just below the issuing court name. In Lexis, usually the legal citation on the far left is the best, “official,” government cite to the case. Do not use the legal citation that begins with “LEXIS.”

Issuing Court: Abbreviation for court that issued ruling (Skip this if you are unable to find the abbreviation, but be sure to include the year.)
